Objective:

I am aiming at improving my skills while using the ones I have learnt as a software developer. I hope to be challenged and to grow intellectually.

Experience:

SNAPLY (snaply.co.uk) Android developer (March 2014 - May 2014)

SKINTY (skinty.com) Co-founder (September 2013 - February 2014)

I built a RESTful web service, a backbone.js web application and an Android application.

COVENTRY UNIVERSITY Android developer (March 2013 - February 2014)

I created a native Android app (Applyser) which tracks and displays user usage over selected periods of time. This work was for private client Nicholas Stanforth and I was approached by the university in view of carrying out the work.

- have learnt how to negotiate and compromise around technical and design issues

INSTINCT-PK (instinct-pk.com) Founder (September 2012 - September 2013)

Having taught myself how to program in Java, I was able to launch an online game called Instinct PK. It was conceived by a friend and myself when we were seventeen. During the time we were open we had over 200,000 accounts registered and a total of 28,260 days total playtime. In this time I developed various skills:

- building concurrent systems to handle I/O
- dealing with different kinds of attacks, including DDOS attacks
